

“The World”

Isn't it funny how time flies
Where we are so assured of our destiny
Until one fateful day, life dies
And the world goes on through eternity

For what more is there
When you have done all you can
And hope people will care
But knowing that the world has a plan

Famine, plagues, disasters, and wars
Infest the world we live in
And all though we would like to close our doors
We go on living in the world in sin

So what shall we do, run
I think not for there is no place to run too
Whether we are under the gun
The World knows just what to do

So in closing let's not forget
That all is no lost as it would appear
But instead that the world is set
To go on through life without any fear

©2001 Jerry Lee Colbert